

Charles Harris

Following from the Greenfield Republican Holiday Issue 1902-1903

CHARLES HARRIS.

One of the best known coal merchants in Greenfield is Mr. Charles Harris whose office is on the corner of Summerfield and Washington streets. His coalyard is on Second street between Summerfield street and the B. & O. S. W. Railroad. He has on hand a large supply of Jackson and Hocking coal, also Pocahontas and other smokeless coals all of the first quality and at the lowest market prices. Through strict attention to business, fairness in dealings, promptness in executing orders and quick delivery, Mr. Harris has secured an enviable amount of patronage.